RUSH FOR PREMIUMS WITH FIRST SETS OF COUPONS

Many Call for Times-Dispatch Lamps, Clocks or Silverware With Thirty Consecutive Certificates---Stock Ample for All.

The first set of thirty consecutive Household Premium Coupons was completed yesterday, and hundreds of coupon-savers visited the premium department of the Times-Dispatch to secure their choice of the many beautiful and valuable household premiums.

The demand for the premiums was so great that long before closing time on the first day, the large stock of premiums was nearly exhausted, and it was necessary to wire rush orders to the various factories.

Of all who visited the premium rooms, there was not one dissatisfied. All were highly pleased with the display, and were not slow in expressing their satisfaction of the liberality of this premium offer.

Many readers of the Times-Dispatch did not notice the offer in time to obtain their first coupon and consequently there will be many more sets completed within the next few days. All readers are advised to call at the premium headquarters as soon as their sets of thirty consecutive coupons are completed.

It is almost impossible to judge the demand on any special premium, and prompt selections will not only make it possible for the readers to secure their premiums promptly, but will aid the Times-Dispatch in placing its orders to satisfy the demand, without delay.

The lamps, clocks and sets of silverware led in the first day's distribution, but there are many other premiums which ran close behind. With such a large variety to select from, there should be no difficulty in every reader securing some article that will prove a valuable addition to his household at a price far below any he has heretofore felt able to pay.

Remember that as long as this offer continues, there is no limit to the number of premiums that you can secure. All that is necessary is to save the coupons, and every time a set of thirty consecutive coupons is completed, you are again entitled to make a selection.

At the recent meeting of the Virginia Good Roads Association, a similar plan was indorsed for crushing rock for public roads. It is pointed out that in a great measure the two plans can be worked together, as practically the same machinery can be used for both. It is said that the railroads stand ready to make a very low rate.

Professor Carrier said last night that before his arrival several corn exhibits had been delivered at the Jefferson Hotel, and many more were in the city. He has letters from the exhibitors, many of whom say that their exhibits will probably not be so large as that shown at the State Fair, Professor Carrier expects it to be better in many other ways.

For the most part, the corn shown is that which took prizes during the season. It is now thoroughly matured, and the judging and scoring can be done with a great deal more accuracy than in the fall.

Most interesting of the corn show features will be the boys' judging class, in which forty or more boys, both students at the agricultural schools and those who are raising their own crops, will participate. Each boy will be given a certain number of ears to grade, and will be required to score the result of his judging on the regular basis of the Virginia Corn Growers' Polytechnic Institute.

At the close of the show Thursday afternoon all the corn exhibited will be sold at public auction. A special auctioneer has been employed, and the bidding is expected to be most spirited, as it is an unusual opportunity for obtaining seed corn of the best variety.
